Coco gave Bear a hug because that's what makes her feel better.

What makes you feel better when you are sad?

The animals came to appreciate Bear's differences. What can you do that make you feel special and different? What does that look like? Draw a picture: